Louie's Park

Written & Illustrated By: Cherish Taylor
Trouble In The Park!

Louie was taking a walk in his park when he sees LITTER! A Rich & Salty candy wrapper to be exact. Louie must find the wrongdoer who trashed his park. Will you help him?
One afternoon, Louie the Lion was taking his daily walk in his park to search for litter.
He searched the ground.
He searched the pond.

No litter here, King of Clean Up!

Thank you, Doris!
He even looked in an owl's den.
Pleased, Louie finds no litter and continues with his walk.
Then he saw it.
A Rich & Salty candy wrapper.

on the ground.
Not believing his eyes, Louie picked up one of the contributors of the 53.7% litter confections off of the ground and heatedly dropped it into the litter bag he always carries.
Louie found a trail of Rich & Salty wrappers and followed it.
Louie was going to find the culprit who littered, because he is . . .

Louie the Lion, King of Clean Up!
The trail led Louie to the park playground.

Louie stayed hidden to look for the culprit litter bug.
Louie was not surprised when he spotted Brutus the Bear with a big bag of Rich & Salty candies. Brutus was the meanest animal to ever visit Louie's park, but Louie found confidence and went to speak with Brutus.

"Excuse me, Brutus. Is this your trash?"

"Yeah. So what?"

"I came to tell you that litter is bad for the environment."

"Yeah? How?"

"Rich & Salty."

"Litter trashes everyone."

"Louie, king of clean up."

"Litter trashes everyone."
Birds, turtles, dolphins and seals get plastic waste mixed up with food, so they eat it.

Oh no! I have bird friends! And I know Tommy the Turtle!

Litter also makes our beaches look bad and harm all the life in the sea.

All of that can happen because of trash?

Yes. It also harms the air we breathe.
Thank you for telling me this, Louie! From now on, I will never litter again, and I will help you stop the problem of littering!

THE END!
Louie the Lion's final remark:

Littering is bad for both me and you. Help the cause by reminding others that Litter Trashes Everyone!
